SAMI PROGRAM

What is the SAMI Program?

SAMI stands for Substance Abuse and Mental Illness. The SAMI Program is designed for individuals struggling with substance abuse and mental health issues. The program can benefit individuals who occasionally abuse substances, or those who have been addicted to drugs or alcohol for many years. The program can assist those who suffer from depression, anxiety, thought problems, trauma and many other mental and emotional problems. Often, people diagnosed with a substance abuse disorder and mental illness have difficulty finding treatment that addresses both issues. The SAMI Program assists by providing assessment and treatment focusing on the unique difficulties encountered by persons with both diagnoses. The SAMI Program is a voluntary, short-term program for persons 18 and older, which assists people to develop or maintain their recovery and to promote mental health. The SAMI Program often works cooperatively with the counseling and psychotherapy department, the community support program and psychiatric services.

What can I expect from the SAMI Program?
